Summary of Sale Results:
Principal Amount*:	$8,445,000
Underwriter's Discount:	$41,106
Reoffering Premium:	$467,509
True Interest Cost (TIC):	3.6904%
Costs of Issuance:	$46,000
Yields:	2.30%-4.21%
Total P&I	$12,454,602
Net P&I	$12,028,129

NOTES: The projected TIC was 3.75% with the winning bid coming in 6 bps lower.

The winning bid was also a "premium bid" where the under writer pays the County cash up front to help pay down higher coupon interest rates. This will provide the County

$421,648 in the Debt Service Fund in 2023, and an additional $4,824 in 2024. The total premium deposited to the Debt Service Funds is $426,473.

The original structure anticipated a "discount bid" where the underwriter takes their compensation up front by paying the County less than face value of the Notes. This allowed the County to reduce the size of the issue by $110,000 due to unused Underwriter's Discount.

The County Treasurer will serve as Paying Agent on the Bonds.

The Bonds maturing June 1, 2033 and thereafter are callable June 1, 2032 or any date thereafter.

* Subsequent to bid opening, the issue size was decreased to $8,445,000.00.

Credit overview

Home to the state capital of Madison and University of Wisconsin's flagship campus, Dane County's economy is broad and diverse. Although state statute caps the county's annual property tax operating levy and sales tax, management has built and maintained, what we consider, very strong reserves thanks to aligning budgeted expenditures with revenue growth carefully. Fiscal 2021 results show a significant surplus of roughly $53 million due to conservative budgeting and significantly overbudget sales tax receipts. For fiscal 2022, management conversations indicate it expects another surplus due to sales tax collections $8 million overbudget. Management expects a typical fiscal 2023 budget. The county has routine debt plans to cover capital costs annually; however, debt schedules show it will maintain rapid amortization, keeping debt manageable.

The rating reflects our opinion of the county's:

- Resilient economy due to the state capital and University of Wisconsin's anchoring presence,
- · Strong financial management that has led to very strong finances, and

• Debt-and-pension liabilities with participation in a well-funded state pension plan.

Environmental, social, and governance

We have analyzed the county's environmental, social, and governance (ESG) risks relative to its economy, management, financial measures, and debt-and-liability profile; we view them all as credit-neutral.

Ratings above the sovereign

Dane County's bonds are eligible to be rated above the sovereign because we think the county can maintain better credit characteristics than the nation in a stress scenario. Under our criteria, "Ratings Above The Sovereign: Corporate And Government Ratings—Methodology And Assumptions," published Nov. 19, 2013, on RatingsDirect, we consider U.S. state and local governments as having moderate sensitivity to national risk. The county's local property tax revenue is the sole source of bond and note security. The Institutional Framework in the U.S. is predictable with state and local governments having significant autonomy, independent treasury management, and no history of federal government intervention. The county demonstrates financial flexibility through, what we consider, very strong liquidity and primarily locally sourced operating revenue. (For more information on Dane County, see the analysis, published Sept. 3, 2021.)

Outlook

The stable outlook reflects S&P Global Ratings' expectation the county will likely maintain balanced operations during an inflationary environment. In addition, we view other credit factors as stable and unlikely to materially change within the two-year outlook.

Downside scenario

While not expected, we could lower the rating if budgetary performance were to falter, causing budgetary flexibility to deteriorate materially.
