The feature is about 55 acres and is located in the Town of Dunn and the Town of Rutland, Dane County. The feature is located on privately owned land and WDNR owned land. There are currently no waterbodies in Wisconsin with the name “Onsrud Pond.”

Proponent: Gale A Stone – Rutland, WI

Summary: The proponent states that the feature was once a marsh but is now capable of accommodating kayakers and canoeists. The WDNR 24k Hydro Layer has this waterbody separated into three separate features, but based of the proponents claims, and aerial photos, the three separate features are one waterbody. The proponent recommends the name “Onsrud Pond” because the Onsruds owned land on both sides of the pond since the turn of the century.
