Hi Scott,

In looking over the maps, I am not in favor of any that split Rutland into more than 1 Supervisory district. I don't think that any of Brian Standings maps split Rutland.

Clerks,

As part of the redistricting process, The Dane County Redistricting Commission solicited new supervisory district maps from the public. The window for submission is now closed. You can view the maps submitted here: https://app.districtbuilder.org/o/dane_county.

The Commission will be holding a public hearing on proposed maps on September 23, and will make a final recommendation on three maps for consideration by the County Board on September 30.

Feedback on these maps from municipal officials is a critical part of the process. These maps have a profound effect on the administration of elections and the representation of your community.

Officials may attend the virtual public hearing on the 23rd or submit written comment ahead of time to Brian Standing at standing@countyofdane.com.
