1. Strategic Planning: Potential Priority Areas for the Community Justice Council Presented by Justice Management Institute.

Tom Eberly from Justice Management Institute shared a presentation outlining the characteristics of a strong strategic plan, highlighting the Community Justice Council's strengths and opportunities based on member interviews, and identifying potential focus areas for upcoming work groups.

Discussion ensued regarding:

- The extent to which the Community Justice Council should be advocating for services that provide basic needs, especially housing

- Clarification of the Community Justice Council's scope and capacity

- The need for closer coordination between the criminal justice system and community-based services, and

- The Office of Justice Reform's successful housing solutions grant application, which supports the Community Justice Council's cross-agency coordination efforts

The next step in the strategic planning process is the formation of work groups to focus on priority issues identified in the presentation.
