RE: Appointment of Huong Nguyen-Hilfiger to District 14 Vacancy

On Tuesday July 10th, I held a public hearing in District 14 at Capitoland Christian Center to hear from applicants and take input from the public on the vacancy due to the resignation of Supervisor George Gillis.

Three well-qualified individuals applied for the appointment – Adam Smith, Corey Singletary, and Huong Nguyen-Hilfiger.

Adam Smith is a teacher for the Madison Metropolitan School District and holds a masters degree in school administration. He expressed interest in social and criminal justice issues. Corey Singletary is a consumer advocate with the Citizens Utility Board, has worked as a policy analyst for the Wisconsin Public Service Commission, and holds a masters degree in public administration. He has been active in his neighborhood association and supports community involvement in government.

While these two applicants have backgrounds that would serve them well as a member of the Dane County Board, I am appointing Huong Nguyen-Hilfiger to fill the District 14 vacancy on the County Board.

Huong Nguyen-Hilfiger is a first generation immigrant who is interested in issues of equity and diversity, particularly as it impacts health outcomes. She holds a masters degree in public health in policy and management, and works for Population Health Management at UW-Health.

I believe Huong will be able to make a valuable contribution to the Board as we face the opportunities and challenges of the year ahead, and I ask for and encourage your support of her appointment.
